Medicinal materials

Report

Edit

There are two types: yellow sandalwood and white sandalwood. Most of them are cylindrical or slightly flat; straight, and a few are slightly curved. The surface is light yellow-brown, and the color becomes darker after being placed for a long time. The surface is smooth and delicate, and long and thin longitudinal cracks can be seen. The ones with yellow color, hard and dense texture, strong oiliness and strong fragrance are the best.

Oral: decoction; or make pills or powders. External use: grind juice and apply

Agarwood powder has many functions. It is not only a spice, but also has medicinal value. Agarwood powder can be made into incense. During the burning process, it releases a strong fragrance, which can eliminate viruses and bacteria in the air and remove odors in the air. It can not only purify the environment, but also calm the nerves, relieve tension, and make people fall asleep quickly. Drinking tea made from agarwood powder can also have the effect of refreshing the mind. Long-term drinking can also nourish the body and mind and prolong life.
